Compliance Review and Gap Analysis

A Compliance Review provides a comparison of your company's current health and safety and environmental systems and procedures against the requirements of legislation or specific standards for your organisation, with recommendations to improve performance.

As the first part of a Compliance Review or Audit, we undertake a Gap Analysis of your health and safety, and environmental and sustainability system against recognised standards i.e. Quality Management Systems or internal company standards and report on the areas that need to be addressed.

Health and Safety and Environmental Audits

Our Health and Safety, Environmental and Sustainability Audits provide an objective systematic evaluation of your organisation. We work closely with your staff observing work conditions and practices to produce a snapshot of your organisation's performance with prioritised recommendations.

We will understand your goals whether it is achieving certification of ISO 45001 Quality Management System, ISO 14001 Environmental Management System or supporting internal initiatives and then agree the level of auditing required.

Health and Safety, and Environmental Management Systems

We carry out a review of your management system in line with your organisation's goals: achieving certification or supporting internal initiatives for:

- Your own internal/corporate standards, ideal for those organisations which are not currently certified or are seeking certification to an external standard
